SUMMER INSTITUTES

Making Relationships That Help Students Grow

LEARNING TO LISTEN For more than fifty years, the Stanley H. King Counseling Institute has offered independent school educators a transformative experience focused on helping students navigate the adolescent passage. Designed for teachers, advisors, administrators and other school personnel, the summer Institute centers on deepening relationships with students and listening to them in ways that will support their growth and learning.

REINVIGORATING YOURSELF The power of the Counseling Institute is not only in its formal curriculum, but in a shared experience with other participants. Through presentations, small group discussions, work in pairs, and self-reflection, you will learn the tools to connect more deeply not only with students but with the larger purpose of your work.
